Smart Threatens Suicide If She's Not Cleared

CONCORD (AP) — One of New Hampshire's most famous criminals is once again pleading her case on national television.

Pamela Smart has told "A Current Affair" that she will kill herself if someone doesn't come forward to clear her of being an accessory in the 1990 murder of her husband, Gregg.

Smart was convicted of convincing her teenage lover, Bill Flynn, and his friends to kill her husband.

"I believe that there just has to be somebody who can help me, and I pray that they'll come forward," Smart says in one of the two segments that will air this week.

"If they don't, then I think I'll kill myself in here, I really do," she says. "I don't think I'll be able to live here forever."

Smart is serving a life sentence in the Bedford Hills Correctional Facility for Women in Bedford Hills, N.Y.

It will be Smart's second television interview this year. Smart appeared on ABC's "PrimeTime Live" in January.
